Night Anticipation/Reaction Guide

Directions: For each of the following statements, compose one well-written sentence giving your reaction to the statement in your response. An example has been done for you. (Be prepared to read some of your responses aloud in a class discussion.)

Ex. Everyone in every situation should always be treated equally.

Sometimes people have different needs and treating everyone the same in every situation might even be unfair in certain situations.

1. It is always best to speak the truth, no matter what the consequences may be.
2. People tend to reveal their true selves in difficult situations. People don't change.
3. Mankind is basically good.
4. Our basic human instincts dictate to us that we must protect ourselves first in times of trouble.
5. People of one race can be less important than or inferior to people of other races.
6. When someone is influenced by others to do something against his natural tendencies, it is really his choice, not peer pressure.
7. When faced with something we disagree with, it is almost always best to stay quiet and accept it.

1. Which statements triggered the most thought-provoking, interesting, or emotional discussion among your group members? Summarize the discussion/debate.
2. For any statements that you discussed, what were some of the most compelling or significant points made by your group members? How did those statements affect your opinion?
3. When you found that a member of your group disagreed with the way you feel about an issue, what was your reaction? Were there any emotional outbreaks that had to be dealt with as a group? What statement(s) triggered the emotional response? What methods did your group use to deal the problems?
4. Why do you think there might be so many differing opinions about the answers to even the simplest questions?
