

Day 34 Journal

"Without forgetting there can be no forgiving," says retired Israeli Supreme Court Justice Moshe Bejski (116); the Dalai Lama, on the other hand, believes that one must forgive but not necessarily forget. Do you think it is possible to forgive and not forget? How would you differentiate forgiveness and reconciliation?